DRUM FILLS: Best Beginner Drum Fill Ever

The main difference between drum solos and fills is that solos contain a lot more variation in dynamics and tempo. When writing a drum solo it's always good to have a basic idea of how you will structure the piece. Starting off with a repetitive drum fill, then slowly increasing the speed can be a good start.

When is a Drum Fill Appropriate to be Played?

A drum fill is a brief solo or spotlight on the drummer, usually played at the end of a musical phrase to mark the transition to the next section of a song. The goal of this lesson series is to build your fill vocabulary while developing the ability to create, improvise and quickly learn fills by ear.

Fills | Drum Lessons

Drum Fills: Wiki says it's "a short break in the groove--a lick that 'fills in the gaps' of the music and/or signals the end of a phrase. It's kind of like a mini-solo." Fills define sections and create excitement in the music. Being able to play or improvise a great fill also helps to solidify your role as a drummer and make everyone around you sound great...but what happens when the ...
